

Why the Global North and the Global South do not meet in the Mediterranean Webinar

Organizers: University of Catania & Istituto Affari Internazionali

June 18, 2021 (3.00 pm - 4.30pm)

25 years after the Barcelona Process has been inaugurated, the Mediterranean space has changed decisively. Globally, it is now situated in a multiplex world where it represents a critical juncture between the "Global South" and the "Global North". Regionally, human security has deteriorated as a result of new geopolitical ruptures, conflicts, and a migration crisis. Locally, it is witnessing new politics of contestation on all of its shores, may that be the decade-long Arab uprisings, or new social movements but also the rise of ethnocentric populism in Europe. As the Mediterranean finds itself at a critical juncture, this webinar asks - or asserts - why the Global North and the Global South do not meet in the Mediterranean.

Chair

Fulvio Attinà University of Catania

Speakers

Stefania Panebianco University of Catania

Daniela Huber Istituto Affari Internazionali

Tamirace Fakhoury Aalborg University & Sciences Po

click here to register